

RUTHIE COLLINS PINK BIC LIGHTER

I ain't no stranger to love 'em and leave 'em's but you had me believin' that you were diff'rent They say there's danger in fallin' too quickly and you history, i tried to deny it Boy you had me goin'
I never saw the warnin'
But sometimes you, just gotta do what you just gotta do when the sky comes fallin' down
You got nothing left to lose
We gonna figure out just who I am now without you
It's the little things in life that will help me make it through Got my pink Bic lighter and this old guitar i got my daddy's jean jacket and this broke down car
Turns out you ain't gonna die from a broken heart
Turns out you ain't gonna die from a broken heart
Now I'm out here in the wilderness just me and the lonely and the Tennessee whiskey Getting through this, I ain't no quitter and I'm getting stronger, it's taken so long but I can see it, there on the horizon
A new sun is rising...
Sometimes you, just gotta do what you
just gotta do when the sky comes fallin' down

We gonna figure out just who I am now
without you
It's the little things in life that will help me
make it through
Got my pink Bic lighter and this old guitar

i got my daddy's jean jacket and this broke down car
Turns out you ain't gonna die from a broken heart
Turns out you ain't gonna die from a broken heart Before you know it love can show up where you are He had long hair and golden eyes and he recognised my heart but Sometimes you, just gotta do what you
just gotta do when the sky comes fallin' down
You got nothing left to lose Gonna figure out just who I am with someone new Sure is nice to find someone who can help you make it through I'll share my Pink Bic lighter and this old guitar He can wear my daddy's jean jacket in this broke down car
Turns out you ain't gonna die from a broken heart
Turns out you ain't gonna die from a broken heart
When the sky comes fallin' down and it all comes apart
Hey, you ain't gonna die from a broken heart
